Essential Question(s):

Opinion writing comes in various forms, but is always intended to convince the reader of a point of view. Writers can influence a reader by supporting their point of view with convincing reasons and evidence supported by facts. Writers apply the writing process to construct an effective, engaging opinion piece.

Common Core Standards

Text Type and Purposes

1. Write opinion pieces on topics or texts, supporting a point of view with reasons and information.
   a. Introduce a topic or text clearly, state an opinion, and create an organizational structure in which ideas are logically grouped to support the writer’s purpose.
   b. Provide logically ordered reasons that are supported by facts and details.
   c. Link opinion and reasons using words, phrases, and clauses (e.g., consequently, specifically).
   d. Provide a concluding statement or section related to the opinion presented.

Production and Distribution of Writing

4. Produce clear and coherent writing (including multiple-paragraph texts) in which the development and organization are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience. (Grade-specific expectations for writing types are defined in standards 1–3 above.)

5. With guidance and support from peers and adults, develop and strengthen writing as needed by planning, revising, editing, rewriting, or trying a new approach. (Editing for conventions should demonstrate command of Language standards 1–3 up to and including grade 5 on page 14.)

6. With some guidance and support from adults, use technology, including the Internet, to produce and publish writing as well as to interact and collaborate with others; demonstrate sufficient command of keyboarding skills to type a minimum of two pages in a single sitting.

Range of Writing

10. Write routinely over extended time frames (time for research, reflection, and revision) and shorter time frames (a single sitting or a day or two) for a range of discipline-specific tasks, purposes, and audiences.

Assessment

Summative:

This assessment will be an on-demand – that is, it aims to assess kids’ ability to independently read informational texts and construct a written argument that incorporates multiple sources of information. The assessment will consist of five tasks; the final product being an argumentative essay about whether you’re in favor or against extending the school day.

Other Formative Assessments:

An anecdotal conferring note of student’s writing progress. Quick writes/Journal samples related to opinion writing.

Directions for administrations, student testing booklet, and Common Core Aligned opinion writing rubrics will be provided by the district.
Mentor Texts for Opinion Writing 5-6

The mentor text list below is not exhaustive; it’s intended to serve as list of recommendations of texts to be read aloud during the unit. Students will also need access to short nonfiction articles so they can identify an author’s opinion, and evidence that supports their thinking. The Time for Kids articles listed below are intended to spark debate and help students begin to develop arguments on topics that matter to them.
